Biography of Kevin Smith

Kevin Smith is Consultant and Publisher a with TEAM Resources. He brings extensive experience in training, designing and implementing professional development resources to nourish the growth of leaders within the credit union industry. Kevin facilitates strategic planning processes, teaches Strategic Governance to Boards of Directors, and oversees the TEAM Resources board self-evaluation programs with credit union nationwide.

Kevin is co-author of A Credit Union Guide to Strategic Governance. This essential book helps Governance teams become as effective as possible. He also writes the monthly TEAM Resources blog that is read my thousands nationally. The monthly blog shares guidance on board topics such as governance, strategy and issues related to the supervisory committee.

Previously, Kevin spent 10 years at the Credit Union National Association (CUNA), in the Center for Professional Development as Director of Volunteer Education. In that role Kevin developed and oversaw programs for credit union executives, boards, and volunteers. This included conferences and training events, webinars, print programs, and online courses, among others. During his tenure at CUNA, he created and brought several new programs to the credit union movement. One of these is the CUNA Volunteer Certification Program, an intensive, competency-based program for boards and supervisory committees, offered as a five-day onsite event or as a self-study program, both involving rigorous testing for completion. He also created the CUNA Training On Demand series of downloadable training courses, and the CUNA Pressing Economic Issues series featuring the CUNA economists.

Behind the scenes Kevin was involved with a team of CUNA leaders focused on creating a culture of innovation within the trade association, and working toward keeping the organization forward-thinking, to create new and better programs for its membership. This included participation in an IDEO design program.

Before joining CUNA, Kevin spent several years teaching at the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

He holds a Master's degree from DePaul University, Chicago and a Bachelor's degree from Miami University, Oxford, OH.

Topics:

The Net Affects - Teams, Trust & Performance: Creating A Dynamic & Fearless Environment

Forget trust falls, ropes courses and building towers from straws and tape. Team coherence is more important than ever, but you need to rethink how to get there if you want teams that will innovate, create and disrupt at the pace of the 21st century. Find out what Google and others researched and have found to be the most important elements for team strength that yields productivity and results: an environment free of fear, and a team that functions like well-designed net.

Audience: any

Board Governance Essentials: Becoming a Better Board Member

A board member's duties can seem overwhelming and far reaching. This course illuminates the fundamental duties of a board and the best ways to discharge them. It will cover functions that boards often become involved in that have little benefit, or a negative impact on the credit union, and how to focus on those things that will be the most beneficial. We will also cover ideas on what very effective boards do to make the best use of their time and guide their credit union to become the best for the membership.

Audience: directors, volunteers, supervisory committee members, CEOs

The Board Calibration Process: Alignment for Higher Performance (Or: Alignment is Not Just for Tires)

Credit union boards spend plenty of time in discussion and debate. It's familiar territory. But what if the board could go through a regular alignment process that would reduce friction, increase performance and create a more efficient group? Through the calibration process, boards can quickly and easily map out where members are in relation to each other on critical issues of governance and oversight, then have calculated conversations make sure that everyone has the same vision and direction for the organization.

In this session you will:

- Learn three evaluation approaches for creating alignment;
- Review common obstacles to alignment & methods for avoiding them; and
- Discuss best practices for alignment maintenance.

Audience: directors, volunteers, supervisory committee members, CEOs

Best Practices of the Modern Credit Union Board

Of course every board is different. We're talking about humans after all. But there are reliable & researched "rules of thumb" that raise the performance of boards. Hear about practices that are tried and proven across a variety of board sizes and types. Make sure that you're working smart and efficiently for your members and for the credit union.

Audience: directors, volunteers, supervisory committee members, CEOs, senior management

Supercharging the Board Team ***

(Or, Just Who are Those People in the Board Room with Me?)

Just how well do you know your colleagues in the boardroom? Sure you know their kids' names and golf handicap, but how well do you know their working style. After all, you may be volunteers, but what you do in the boardroom is work. Organizations often recognize the need for deliberate team development at the staff level but ignore it at the top. In this session we will use the WorkPlace Big 5 model to consider how your team's personalities line up in a way that you can use to get higher performance. Find out where your colleagues get their energy, and where they become drained; who needs reflection before a decision, and who needs to "talk it through."

In this session you will:

- Consider regular development of the board as team;
- Learn the fundamentals of the WorkPlace Big 5 model; and
- Discuss options for capitalizing on the variety of personalities on the board.

Audience: directors, volunteers, supervisory committee members, CEOs

Reframing the Pace of Credit Union Governance

Alternate Titles:

Governance at the Speed of the 21st Century

Re-conceptualizing the Work of the Credit Union Board

In an age of Instagram, instant messaging, and on-demand everything, the work of the board of directors typically plods along at the speed of the steam locomotive. It's time that we say "What if?" What if ... the board's role could be reframed and re-conceptualized to create dynamic movement in the organization? What if ... the board could effectively work at the pace of the modern world without spending any more time than they already do, or maybe even less? You know ... work smarter, not harder. It's possible. This is not a technology problem, though it involves technology. This is not a theoretical problem, though it involves theory. Hear how you can take on the mantle of leadership for your organization, and set the strategy, as you should, in a more efficient way that matches the pace of the world ... to the ultimate benefit of your members.

Board Succession Planning at its Simplest and Finest

Is your board ready to move forward into the future? Beyond a year at a time? A well thought out succession plan is a necessary part of the plan. It needn't be complicated or difficult either. Hear how to break this process down into concrete steps: define the competency needs of the board, outline the ideal diversity plan, create a flexible timeline, and start an evergreen recruitment process. This will establish continuity and avoid emergency circumstances.

The Making of an Effective Board Chairperson

It's a tightrope walk ... being the board chair. You have to lead, without dominating, be willing to have difficult conversations. You're a visionary, but also one of a group of peers. And you're the navigation point to the all communication to the CEO and staff. And of course, you're chief cat-herder. The chairperson's job is an extremely important one with a great deal of influence over how effective the credit union can be. In this session, we'll review a range of competencies for the chair. We'll consider how to "read" your board for its style and personality in order to employ the most effective techniques. And finally, we'll discuss what has worked for attendees and ways to share our collective experience.

Everything I Needed to Know About Teamwork & Leadership I Learned in Marching Band

Over 125 people step onto a field in unison, then start playing different parts and moving in different directions. They're executing a strategic plan to a grand, explosive visual and auditory effect. That's a team working with great leadership.

We all love a great sports analogy, but in terms of leadership and team development, the marching band offers all lessons: mentorship, succession planning, diversity of roles, execution in synchrony, communication, competition, and more! And they are working together with purpose. And c'mon, a basketball team has, what, 10 people? Only half of which are playing at the same time.

This session offers the insights of a self-proclaimed "band geek." Lighthearted though it may be, the lessons are real, and inspiring.

Audience: directors, volunteers, supervisory committee members, CEOs, senior management, staff

The Power of Rapport and Influence

How do you think of rapport? For many it's a vague "connection" with others, or a mysterious "feeling" in a group dynamic. The truth is that rapport is much more powerful than most realize. (Did you know that it will show up on an MRI?) Knowing and understanding this powerful force can help you influence a single person or an entire room full. But rapport can also be the lynchpin in creating an effective team, the difference between simply moving projects forward, and charging ahead with gangbuster success. In this session, we'll discuss the science behind rapport, and practical ways to harness it in every aspect of daily life.

Change Agent Leadership

Credit union people are not traditionally known for their appetite for change. But these days, more and more believers in the credit union movement are eager to affect and champion positive change. This means we need more change agents. But what exactly does that mean? And how does it work effectively?

In this session we'll talk about the difficulties, necessities and tremendous possibilities that come with being a change agent. And we will:

- Learn the power of rapport in making people receptive to change;
- Consider what it means to be a catalyst for change; and,
- Hear how to address culture, emotions and habits.

You DO Know You're a Co-op, Right?

Leveraging the Cooperative Principles to Standout in Your Market

Does your credit union look like every other financial institution for miles around? Or is your sole differentiator unnoticed, great customer service? In this session we'll examine the seven cooperative principles and learn how you can use them to set yourself apart in a crowded financial services market. Let's face it banks, payday lenders, peer-to-peer lenders, and the like can't touch these principles. Credit unions ARE different, but we're often too humble to make that known.

The Path to Presenter

Fear of public speaking is right up there with fear of heights and fear of snakes. But we all have to do it some of the time. With a little practice and a few tips, a well-delivered presentation could be the difference between a big project going forward, a major deal getting closed, or even a significant promotion. Sharpen your skills and leverage them for the good of your organization and your career. This course will cover research-based approaches to help you establish credibility and rapport with any audience. It will provide guidance on the use of graphics and how to avoid creating PowerPoint presentations that cure insomnia.

Audience: This course is targeted for novice to mid-level performers, ideal for younger developing staff, or those who are, or hope to change rolls and grow professionally.
